IWC Gold 2022

Mineral laced, fruit laden beauty from California’s most diverse AVA. This sister grape to Aglianico which hails from Italy's dry sunny south is thriving in Paso Robles.

Production

Clean and stony, Fiano lends itself to a simple stainless-steel fermentation and maturation in the cellar. The 2019 was sourced a single vineyard in northwest Paso Robles that produces intensely flavourful fruit with plenty of lively acidity. Destemmed and crushed in the early a.m., the grapes are left to soak on its skins for a few hours before a delicate basket pressing. It then proceeds untouched through alcoholic and partial malolactic fermentation, then filtered.

Tasting note

Along with its red Campanian cousin Aglianico, Fiano is entirely suited to the southern Italian-like warm and dry climate of Paso Robles. A complex wine with lively aromas of stone fruit and marzipan. The structured palate shows flavours of honey, lemon, wet rocks, little candied ginger on the finish.
