Dominio de Atauta

— Ribera del Duero, Spain

This release from Dominio de Atauta estate is from their younger vineyards - but still around 60 years old! Fine and complex, it expresses the rugged and high altitude terrain of their estate in eastern Ribera del Duero.

Production

The 100% Tinto Fino (Tempranillo) grapes are sourced from the Dominio de Atauta estate, which sits at around 1,000m altitude. This is approaching the furthest extreme at which grapes can ripen, so here they experience a harsh climate, which reduces yields and concentrates character. The wine is aged for 12 months in French oak.

Tasting note

A warm, spicy, open nose with intense black fruit, juicy black cherries, mocha and baked earth characters. The palate has fine-grained tannins giving structure, concentrated blackcurrant fruit, cedar and minerality with perfumed violets to the finish. Elegant and complex.
