Hand-crafted Pinot that really captures the terroir of this Monopole vineyard site.

Production

This particular wine is made from the Dijon '777' clone of Pinot Noir grapes exclusively selected from their Noszvaj vineyard sites of Nagyfai and Nyilasmár Monopole. The wine has been aged in 225L and 500L oak barrels (55% Hungarian and 45% French) for 15 months, 33% were new barrels. Only 5200 bottles were produced.

Tasting note

Fragrant sandalwood and herbal medicinal notes follow through into cherry, wild strawberry, raspberry and pepper spice aromas. Gentle characters of leather and tobacco also add complexity to this intriguing Pinot. Moderate tannins with good body. The long aging in oak barrels gives this wine a velvety and round finish making it very moreish.

Food Match

Rare, spring lamb; mushroom risotto; duck.
