Wildeberg

— Franschhoek, South Africa

Classic ancient vine Semillon selected from 2 small plots, the oldest planted in 1905. An amazing wine which will happily age for a decade or more.

Production

Sourced from ancient, dry grown bush vines in the Franschhoek Valley in the south-eastern corner of the Cape's Coastal Region. Franschhoek is amongst the oldest planted regions in the Cape, with Sémillon having been planted here in 1679 by French Huguenot settlers. Naturally-fermented in new and older oak at our Franschhoek farm, there is very little magic involved other than the fruit itself.

Tasting note

The 2022 vintage is showing exuberant aromas, with citrus fruit offset by savoury, waxy notes. The palate has an impactful attack of taut, stony, highly textural citrus tang and terrific mouthfeel. A subtle, beautifully balanced wine with layers of expression.

Food Match

Ideal with turbot with a saffron butter sauce.
