FPB97502024

Maison Boutinot

— Rhône, France

Arc du Rhà´ne is named after the classified group of villages which together line up to form a geographical arc across the valley of the southern Rhà´ne known locally as the 'arc of gold'. The village of Cairanne at the western tip of this arc of gold.

Production

Carefully assembled by our winemaker, Julien Dugas, this wine is made from grapes grown on a terroir of clay and pebbles. The grapes are hand-picked before being carefully destemmed and vinified using traditional 'minimal intervention' techniques. This wine is made without the use of oak to retain the pure fresh fruit character.

Tasting note

Attractive and juicy Cà´tes du Rhà´ne with bramble and blackcurrant fruit notes and delicate floral hints. The palate is up-front, voluptuously fresh with warm spice and structure.

Food Match

An easy drinking red wine that is fantastic both with and without food.
