Diez Siglos de Verdejo

— Rueda, Spain

An expressive single vineyard Sauvignon Blanc from Rueda. This variety works as a good foil to the much more neutral Verdejo wine.

Production

The grapes are sourced from a 9 hectare parcel of Sauvignon Blanc at 750m altitude. After harvesting by night (in cooler temperatures to maintain freshness) and selection, the grapes are cold-macerated for 10 hours before pressing. Temperature-controlled fermentation takes place in stainless steel, and then the wine remains on fine lees for four months before bottling.

Tasting note

Lightly savoury aromas with sage leaves, nettle and green fruits balanced by tropical notes. The palate is vibrant with juicy grapefruit acidity, herbaceous characters and good length.

Food Match

Great with summer salads, risotto, and all kinds of fish and seafood dishes.
