Wild House Rosé, WO Western Cape 2025

Wild House

— Western Cape, South Africa

Wild House is a place of raw energy, a weather-beaten hut exposed to the storm-swept slopes of the mountains where this wine was conceived. Our Rosé is a naturally-fermented expression of Grenache and Cinsault, with bright, succulent fruit and tangy palate.

Production

Younger vine Grenache Noir from Swartland and old vine Cinsault from Paarl are gently pressed after a few hours skin contact. Some whole bunch material adds crunch and texture to the wine to reflect its sandy granitic Coastal provenance, and the juice is left to ferment naturally. No additions, unfined and with only a coarse filtration.

Tasting note

A delicate pale pink colour. Redcurrant on the nose with ripe, gently savoury notes. A fresh, zesty style with good palate weight and cranberry and red berry flavours balanced by good acidity. The taut, lightly mineral finish combined with nice depth of fruit makes this a great Rosé for food.

Food Match

Dangerously easy to drink chilled on it's own or lovely paired with simply grilled fish or chicken.
