— Eger, Hungary

As the name would suggest this is no wallflower. Regular lees stirring over the course of a year in a combination of French and Hungarian oak produces a soft, mellow buttery Chardonnay. Toasty and moreish this is a supreme example of just what Eger can do.

Production

Made with 100% Chardonnay from the Nagyfai and Nyilasmár vineyards Aged on its lees in small French and Hungarian oak barrel for 16 months - 64% Hungarian, 30% French and 6% American barrels, 33 % were first filling, new barrels.

Tasting note

Aromas of buttered toast and fresh tropical fruit - mango and peach - are abundant on the nose. The palate has some fresh fruit flavorus of lemon, pears and pineapple with complex caramel, butter and toast character from the oak. The finish is long and elegant.
